

David L. Rice Library

University of Southern Indiana

The David L. Rice Library is the tallest building on campus and is the focal point of a four-building campus quadrangle. Heavy maple solids and reverse box veneers are on the shelving end panels, display pieces and carrels. Marmoleum® worksurfaces complement the furniture design. Custom lighting incorporates power and data in lamp bases. Benjamin reading chairs complete this installation.

Square Feet: 158,000
Completion Date: 2006
Architect: Woollen, Molzan and Partners
Library Solution: Custom
Materials: Maple Solids and Veneers, Marmoleum®

